

NOT A TRACE DISCOVERED

Naval Tug Mina With 32 Men Still Missing

The Nina Steamed Ahead While Tug Savage Put Back, Her Captain Fearing the Heavy Sea That Was Running.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—The naval and revenue service vessels, which are searching for the naval tug Mina, report no trace of her. The cutter Gresham has spoken the tug Savage, which left Norfolk with the Nina. The Savage's captain says the sea was so high that he put back after passing the cape, but the Nina kept on, with the sea bearing over her bows. It is believed that the Nina became topsy-turvy with lee and turned turtle. The search is being continued.

A week ago Saturday the Nina steamed out of Hampton Roads, bound for Boston. She had just safely towed from Boston to Norfolk two submarines and was on her homeward voyage. Before the day was far advanced, a stiff northwest wind sprang up, making what sailormen call a "nasty sea."

But no alarm was felt at the time for the safety of the Nina, for the gallant little tug, built in the closing days of the Civil war, had weathered many a worse blow.

Under ordinary conditions, the tug should have arrived at the Boston navy yard last Tuesday. She has an able commander in Chief Boutwell John F. Croghan, who has been in command of the Nina since 1903. She carried 32 men.

If the vessel did meet with an accident to her machinery, many navy yard officers held the opinion that she could never have survived the terrific seas which prevailed off the New England coast Saturday morning.

Even with her machinery in regular working order, they figure out that she would have had a poor chance of keeping afloat if actually caught out in such a gale.

They fear for the worst and hold the view that the vessel has been over-whelmed, the lone hope being that her crew may have been taken off by some passing merchant vessel.

YOUNG GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN SURF

Jane Adams, Aged 18, Had Been Missing from Her Home in Atlantic City Since February 4.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 14.—The body of Jane Adams, aged 18 years, daughter of Charles Adams of this city, was found in the surf off Vantor beach yesterday. The girl had been missing more than a week and the police were searching for William Seyler, a young married man of this city, who was the last person seen with Miss Adams before her disappearance on the night of February 4.

The girl with her sister, Alice Adams, had gone to the new pier with Seyler and his brother, Arvis Seyler, who is unmarried. Alice Adams told the police yesterday that she called to her sister to leave the pier but that William Seyler persuaded her to remain.

When the girl failed to return home, Mrs. Adams swore out a warrant for Seyler on the charge of abducting her daughter, but he left this city on the day following the girl's disappearance and has not yet been found. Arvis Seyler, the police say, has also left the city.

The body of the girl was found by the crew of a trolley car. There was a hole over the left eye but the surgeons say it could have been caused by the girl's head coming in contact with a nail.

The police last night wired to the police departments of every city in the country asking for the arrest of William Seyler. He is 28 years old, six feet tall and of slender build. When last seen he wore a gray overcoat and a slouch hat.

PERSONNEL OF CABINET NOT YET ANNOUNCED

Delay May Be Result of King Edward's Stand—If Report is True, Early Resignation of Cabinet is Expected.

London, Feb. 14.—Official assurance from Arthur Balfour, the leader of the Conservatives, is given Premier Asquith that that party will help the Liberals to pass the Lloyd-George budget. Balfour declares that he is opposed to the budget, but is unwilling to tie up the national finances longer. The personnel of the new cabinet has not been announced, although Parliament meets tomorrow. Asquith's delay in naming it is believed to be the result of King Edward's refusal to allow the swamping of the upper House with Liberal peers in the event of the Lords continuing their opposition. It is likely that the early resignation of the cabinet will take place, with another election, if the report is true.

BOY DENIED MURDER.

After Bloodhound Had Led Search to Him.

Deland, Fla., Feb. 14.—Irvin Hanchett, a 16-year-old white boy, was arrested yesterday, charged with the murder of Mary Todd at Glenwood Saturday. The girl was stabbed in 65 places. The girl's assailant had other motives than murder it is believed from the condition of her clothing. She had been beaten about the face and dragged 100 yards from her bicycle before being stabbed.

The sheriff secured bloodhounds and followed a trail to the orange grove of William Woolley where young Hanchett was employed. In his room were found bloody clothing and a knife. He strenuously denied that he had committed the crime.

An noon as it was known that Hanchett had been arrested on a strong chain of circumstantial evidence, excitement was intense. He was spirited away in an automobile and is believed to have been taken to Jacksonville and placed in jail.

Morriston, Conn., Feb. 14.—Irvin Hanchett was in charge of the Connecticut state school for boys here. His home was in New-Haven. While in school here, the boy's behavior was of the best and his good conduct earned him parole in the custody of William Woolley of this place, who has an orange grove in Florida.

This action was taken after some of the strike leaders had conferred with Charles W. Curtis, resident manager of the factories and after Mayor J. J. Shaugnessy and a prominent business man of this city had exerted their good offices.

Manager Curtis said that he was ready to listen to the grievances of the strikers if they would return to work. The strikers, who ask a wage increase, will meet this afternoon to decide on a course of action.

PISTOL FIGHT ON STREETS

Robbery Attempt at Southbridge, Mass., Today

ON THE TOWN POSTOFFICE

Yeggmen Driven Off After a Desperate Encounter, Having Been Discovered by Two Patrolmen.

Southbridge, Mass., Feb. 14.—This town had another sensation to-day, when, on top of the roofing of the Southbridge Savings bank of several hundred thousand dollars, several yeggmen tried to rob the post office, being frustrated by the action of two of the town's policemen, who drove the robbers off after a running fight.

At an early hour Patrolmen Coughlin and McQuirk discovered the yeggmen trying to get into the post office. The officers called upon the robbers to surrender, crying, "Hands up!" The command was replied with a volley of bullets. The officers then fired on the yeggs, and a pistol duel was carried on through the streets of the town for some distance, but the robbers got away in a slush.

GRAVE SCANDAL.

Archbishop O'Connell Deplores Actions of Priests of Diocese.

Boston, Feb. 14.—Declaring that the possession by priests of any large sum of money gained from any source but inheritance is a grave scandal, Archbishop William H. O'Connell of the Boston archdiocese yesterday begged the indulgence and prayers of the congregation of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross for some grave faults which recently happened on the part of one or two of the clergy of this diocese.

The archbishop stated that no priest in the Boston archdiocese could amass money merely from the income of his parish and deplores the fact that scandal had been caused by the wills of priests who had left large fortunes.

"There have been enough and more than enough of such things," he said.

A meeting will be held in Albany in a few days, when the matter will probably be decided. The meeting is held in October and continues about a week. After working hard for some time, she succeeded in opening the door, after becoming thoroughly chilled.

DR. EDGAR E. BLOOD DEAD.

Was Native of Plainfield and Studied at Barre Academy.

Randolph, Feb. 14.—Dr. Edgar E. Blood passed away quite suddenly at 6 o'clock Saturday night at his rooms in the block over Bell's store. Dr. Blood had not been in his usual health for several days and had suffered much for years from malaria, which was contracted in the South during army days, and from which he had never found relief. On Saturday he was found in a much worse condition physically, and upon calling a physician it was discovered that his case was serious and he survived but a few hours, the direct cause of his death being disease of the heart.

Dr. Blood was the youngest son of Rev. Friend and Emily (Brooks) Blood, born in Plainfield July 26, 1847. He was the son of a Baptist minister and during the pastorate of his father at Plainfield he attended school at that place and afterward studied at Barre academy.

Later he went to Massachusetts and upon the opening of the Civil war caught the spirit of patriotism and, although only a boy in years, made a trip to Vermont to gain the consent of his father to enter the army, which was refused. Not discouraged, he continued his attempts to gain admission to the army, which were finally successful, and he enlisted at Worcester, Mass., in the 42d Massachusetts regiment.

Upon his return at the close of the war, he entered the office of Dr. George Blanchard of Montpelier, where he studied dentistry for a time and afterward went to Boston to complete his dental education. Later he conducted a successful business in Ludlow and Springfield, Vt., where his work was recognized as being of a high order. He was also an accomplished musician, being a skilled performer on the pipe organ, and at both of the above named places he held the position of organist in one of the churches. In the early days of the Christian church of this place, he also acted as organist.

Upon the advance of falling health, he was obliged to relinquish active duty and for a time was an inmate of the Bennington Soldiers' home, but not being contented there, he came six years ago to reside in this town, where he has enjoyed the companionship of his relatives, his only sister being a resident of this town. Deceased was a member of U. S. Granite post here and is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ellen Blanchard, from whose home on Randolph avenue his funeral will be held on Monday afternoon. He is also survived by a nephew, Dr. E. O. Blanchard, and a niece, Mrs. Thomas Pritch. Dr. Blood never married.

Gates of Franklin that the announcement of his candidacy for governor of Vermont, as printed in yesterday's Boston Herald and reprinted to-day's Burlington Free Press, was not authorized and not true. Mr. Gates has not stated yet that he would run for the governorship. Just how the statement got into print that he would run is something which lies between the Boston Herald and its correspondent, it is claimed, presumably from an unintentional violation of a "release agreement."

ADDS A YEAR TO RESTRAINT

By Trying to Evade Punishment for Intoxication

WAS SENTENCED TODAY

Welcome Lamplier, the Second Man in Three Years to Violate Sheriff Tracy's Confidence, Gets a Long Term.

Not less than a year and not more than two years in the house of correction was the punishment meted out to Welcome (Dub) Lamplier in Montpelier city court to-day for violating the confidence of Sheriff Tracy, who had put Lamplier out to work, together with a lot of prisoners, only to have Lamplier flee. Judge Harvey gave Lamplier a talking-to in addition to the sentence, declaring that Sheriff Tracy had tried to do the right thing by the prisoners in Washington county jail, and it was ingratitude on the part of the prisoners to break their parole when out working.

Lamplier is only the second prisoner to violate Sheriff Tracy's confidence in three years; the other having been recaptured and sentenced to the house of correction for fleeing, and being still there. Lamplier will be taken back to the house of correction, having been brought from there Saturday, following his completion of an unfinished sentence for intoxication, which he started in the county jail. It was last December that Lamplier skipped out while working outside the jail. He was traced to a lumber camp in North Duxbury shortly afterwards and when rearrested was then transferred to the house of correction to complete his intoxication sentence. Sheriff Tracy went to Rutland and brought him back Saturday night. Lamplier is a Montpelier man.
